

Posting on Facebook VS posting on PHSclassof71.com Classmate Forums

Go to to Facebook	Pick Classmate Forums (left navigation bar)
See the posts on your FB timeline	See the list of Forums available
	Open a Forum to see a list of topics and pick a Topic (details below)
Comment on someone else's post	Reply to someone else's post
Make a new Post to your timeline	Start a new Topic within the Forum

Find a Roommate Forum

- Need a roommate? Start a new Topic using your name, the dates, name of hotel and any other details - non-smoking or gender for example.
- If you see someone else's post for roommate, click it open, read the details and then either go back or if you want to connect, click reply and type in your response.

Host a Classmate Forum

- Have a spare room to share? Start a new Topic using your name, the dates it is available, what town you are in, what you are offering, and any other details (non-smoking or gender for example).
- If you coming in from out of town and want to stay with a classmate for fun or less expense, click it open each Topic, read the details and then either go back or if you want to connect, click reply and type in your response.

Friday Get Togethers or Sunday Gatherings Forums (both work the same)

- If you want to find classmates willing to join you in an activity, start a new Topic more how tos
- If there is an activity posted that you want to join, or if you have questions about the activity, open the Topic and reply

Reunion Questions Forum

- If you have a question you'd like either your fellow classmates or the planning committee to answer, start a new Topic - use a keyword in the topic title so Forum visitors can quickly know what your question is about
- If you have an answer, or want to comment on someone else's question, click open the Topic and select Reply